

Charlie

By Glenn Currier

I know this fellow who can sit at a cafe table on Elm glance through the window at the grizzled old man limping by and imagine the stories that made the face creases and hobbled him.

Ford trucks and dusty back roads sweaty shrieking children

"Charlie," Copyright 2010 by Glenn Currier Written 6-8-10